WINTER QUARTERS.

By mid-October

most of the Rip Van Winkles among our bunte creatures have laid down for their winter nap. The toads and turtle have buried themselves in the earth.

The woodchuck is in his hibernacu-lum, the skunk in his, the mole in his;

and the black bear has his selected and will go in when the snow comes. He does not like the looks of his big tracks in the snow. They publish his goings and comings too plainly. The coon requires about the same time. The provi-dent wood-mice and the chipmunk are laying by a winter supply of nuts or grain, the former usually in decayed trees, the latter in the ground. I have observed that any unusual disturbance in the woods, near where the chipmunk has his den, will cause him to shift his quarters. For many successive days, one October, I saw one carrying into his hole, which was only a few rods from where we were getting out stone, back wheat which he had stolen from a near field. But as our work progressed and the racket and uproar increased, the chipmunk became alarmed. He ceased carrying in, and, after much hesitating and dithering about, he began to carry out; he had determined to move; if the mountain fell, he, at least, would be away in time. So, by mouthfuls, or checkalls, the grain was transferred to a new place. He did not make a "bee" to get it done, but carried it all himself, occupying several days and making a trip about every ten minutes.—Scribner

WASHINGTON'S RETALIATION.—It is now settled beyond dispute that General

Gates was connected with General Lee in his plan to supersede the illustrious Washington. The Commander-in-chief was well aware of the means they used to deprive him of the affections of the army and the confidence of the people. How hesitant revenge is shown in the following incident:

"I found Gen. Gates traversing the apartment, under the influence of high excitement. His agitation was excessive.

Every feature of his countenance, every gesture betrayed it. He had been charged with unskillful management at the battle of Camden, and he had just received official dispatches informing him that the command had been transferred to General Greene. His countenance betrayed no resentment, however; it was sensibility also that caused his emotion. He held an open letter in his lips and kissed with devotion, while he repeatedly exclaimed: "Noble, great man! Noble, generous procedure!"

When the tumult of his mind had a little subsided, with strong expressions of feeling he said: "I have this day received from the Commander-in-chief a communication which has conveyed more consolation to my bosom and more ineffable delight to my heart than I had believed it possible for it ever to have felt again. With affectionate tenderness he sympathizes with my misfortune, and condoles with me in the loss I have sustained in my only son; and then, with

ANTI-EARLY RISING.

Farmers generally do not rise as early as they did twenty years ago, and we think they ought not to. Some, however, retain the old habit, and are up at three or four o'clock in the morning, have breakfast at lamplight, and then work commences. Now, we know well enough that if they are hired men, and if work pushes, it is necessary to stir early, but on the whole, we think what is known as the habit of early rising is so much an error as to do more harm than good. We should say that for an ordinary household, where nobody but the family is in the house, breakfast at eight is soon enough for Winter, and from six to seven for Spring and Summer. It would be a good plan, though, if there is one in the house who likes to rise early, to build the fires that rooms may be warmed, though by having good stoves fires can be kept all night. We object to breakfast by lamplight, because the children are made to get up when they would be much better off in bed and asleep. It is cruel to tear boys out of bed in the dark and cold, since they always go to bed tired, and growing as they are, they need all the rest and recuperation they can get; and when they do arise, they ought not to be hurried out to the barn, probably in cold, damp boots, to fodder and take care of stock. It is much better for the man himself to go out and see that work is properly done, though the boys might go along, if they were warmed, and help get fresh air before breakfast.

We doubt whether anything is gained by feeding cattle before sunrise, and we are sure milking ought not to be done until the morning becomes cheerful.

The amount of work which boys can do in a cold morning is not much, and it will seldom be well done. They are in a hurry to get back to the fire, and they ought not to be blamed, but it would be a good plan to have them help about breakfast, if their help is needed. The point we want to make is, boys are not tough or strong, nor have they got the use of their muscles so that they can apply to advantage what strength they do possess. If school hours press, and they are to go, they ought not to have any time to spare. When night comes everything should be made comfortable; have plenty of lamps, books, and papers. An intelligent farmer neglects his duty if he does not help the teacher, and vast help can be given by hearing the children read, and in making them read correctly, and in considering various subjects.

SOMETHING ABOUT VENUS.—It is very strange that of all the stars we see, Venus is the only one that is in reality like the earth in size. All the others are either very much smaller or very much larger. Most of them—in fact, all the stars properly so called—are great globes of fire like our sun, and are thousands of times larger than the globe we live on. A few others are like the earth and Venus in not being true stars,

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

REPAIRS.—The rates of taxation are to be fixed on Monday next, and we take the opportunity to suggest to the Board of Supervisors the propriety of a reduction from last year's rates. They were as follows:

State	40 00%
Salary Fund	1 00
General Fund	1 00
Contingent Fund	25
Amador Debt Fund	25
School Fund	25
Building Fund	10
Total	87 25%

The State tax has been fixed at 73 cts. and 5 mills; this, together with the Salary Fund and Amador Fund cannot be altered, but the others, with the exception of Building, can and ought to be, in justice to taxpayers, materially reduced. For instance: Make the Contingent, 20; General, 12; School, 20; Building, 15. This makes a total tax of $2 75%—a reduction of 19% cents from last year's.

SUPPER PHOTOGRAPHS.—Bradley & Rulofson, of San Francisco, will accept thanks for a package of fine photographs—production of their celebrated Gallery. Among them are groups of their "Celebrities," one of 110 "Men of Mark," and one of 100 members of the theatre profession. We shall be pleased to show these, and other photographs from these artists.

BOARDING HOUSE.—The I X L Mill boarding house, under the management of Edmunds Spencer, of Monitor, opened on Monday last, and proves highly satisfactory to all concerned, there being a beautiful and well-served table—the results of good materials manipulated by a first class cook.

I X L MILL.—The whole of the machinery for this mill, with the exception of that en route, will leave San Francisco on Thursday next. The mechanics for the erection of the buildings arrived yesterday, and are pushing their work with great energy. Thirty five men are engaged about the place.

STEVEN'S RESTAURANT.—Alexander J. Stevens having taken possession of the building formerly known as Brown's Hotel, will open it to-morrow as a first class restaurant.

SHINGLE MACHINE.—The Exchange Saw mill is to be furnished by the Vulcan Iron Works with a Huntington shingle machine—capacity 25,000 per twenty-four hours.

ABOUT READY.—The new, 120-horse power, engine of the Exchange Mills will be in position next week, and connection perfected with the saw-mill.

DISTRICT COURT.—This Court, Hon. Theron Reed, Judge presiding, commences its October Term on Monday next.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Robert Turner was largely attended on Sunday last.

TAXES.—The Board of Supervisors will meet on Monday next to fix the rates of taxation for 1876-77.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court, Hon. S. W. Griffith, Judge, presiding, will meet on Monday next.

THUNDER STORMS.—Yesterday and today refreshing thunder storms visited this section.

NEW HOTEL.—Pearson and McClay have opened the Fisk Hotel.

SCRIBNER'S.—The October number of this popular and interesting monthly is at hand with its usual fine illustrations, and good readings. The twelfth volume closes with this number. Its contents are: Notes on Salmon Fishing, Beds and Tables, Stools and Candlesticks. The Man who lost his Name, "That Lass o' Lowrie's," Massachusetts Agricultural College, The Bride of the Rhine, John Chinaman in San Francisco, In Loneliness, Autumn Tides, Philip Nolan's Friends, The Two Mysteries, In and about the Fair, The Flower Bird, Topics of the Time, The Old Cabinet, Home and Society, Culture and Progress, The World's Work, Bric-a-Brac. Published by Scribner & Co., New York, at $4 per annum.

HOW TO VANQUISH THE STOMACH'S TORMENTOR.

If the Enemy of mankind was permitted to exert his diabolical ingenuity in the invention of a new disease, he could scarcely devise one more worthy of his genius than dyspepsia. The dyspeptic sufferer is tormented by symptoms resembling those of almost every known malady, and is often worried into moments of these conflicting and perplexing manifestations. A favorable though absurd hallucination of the victim of chronic indigestion is that he or she has heart disease. Dyspepsia has often been pronounced incurable, but experience has shown that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will vanquish it, together with the constipation and bilious derangement which usually accompany it. Diseases of the kidneys and supposed rheumatic pains are also frequent concomitants of dyspepsia, but they, too, succumb to the above named invaluable corrector.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15, 1876.

As an index of the sentiment of Maryland "reformers" regarding law and order, a score of men proceeded on the evening of the 27th ult., on Deal's Island, to the home of James Jones, "knocked him down, tied his hands and feet, tore off his clothing, and pretending that he had committed an outrage on one Julia Sommers," without a warrant made him walk thus manacled over two miles to one Justice Webster's, where, after a mock trial, they demanded a commitment, which was improperly granted, when they carried him to Princess Anne, twenty miles distant, with not a rag or loosened hand to protect himself from the mosquitoes, and placed him in jail, where he was confined until the 21st inst., when Capt. W. S. Dix became his bail; the said Julia Sommers affirmed that "said Jones had not misbehaved to her, and that she had no reason for appearing before a grand or other jury against him." There is no redress in that section, for the Democrats talk very fluently about taking their guns and killing every negro on that island, and say that no negro shall vote on that island. And yet these "reformers" only want "to be let alone."

From an exceedingly interesting but very long letter from Raleigh, N. C., we glean the following: Judge Settle and the "Confed." Gov. Vance are stumping that State. Vance is not so tall, weighs about 225 pounds, and is the best stump speaker in North Carolina. Settle, not the equal of his competitor in story-telling, is, in the language of a Democratic paper, "a match for a giant." Already the White Liners feel that Settle's pungent representations of Vance's war record are having telling effect; and Vance endeavors to parry the fearful blows by announcing himself as the "white man's candidate," that "this must be a straight-haired government," and by arousing the prejudice of race. But Settle's eloquent appeals to Union men to stand by the Union "will probably control the eleven thousand white loyalists and decide the contest." Judged by closest scrutiny Vance will have to carry every vote in the Democratic counties, and "it really seems to me that the State will go Republican." When we add that this letter was written by a Democrat, we quit.

As Tilden's answer to the charge of defrauding the revenue very tardily comes to the front, further evidence in support of the charges is in order:

The books of one stock broker in New York city show that in April, May and June, 1864, he sold, through their agency, over $413,000 of different stocks, on which he received the heaviest profits. On the 11th of June he received $50,000 as his share of the proceeds on certain speculations in Chicago R. R. and other stocks. Said gentleman who bought and sold stocks for him during this period: "In the years of 1862 and '63 and 64 Mr. Tilden could not have made less than from $200,000 to $300,000 in the street. These were the years in which he paid tax on $7,500, $10,000 and $10,000 respectively." As counsel to various corporations, he would make recommendations to them, and then purchasing before the news got on the streets, he reaped immense profits with great rapidity and safety. After giving instances of his duplicity and treachery to those who had trusted him, he continued: "In unscrupulousness he has no superior on the street; and as for friendship, I know of my own personal knowledge that he would sell out any one of his best friends at a moment's notice, provided he thought he could make anything by it." His ruin of his old co-worker, Anthony Morse, is well known. He and Tony Morse were interested in "Fort Wayne," when he went to a second broker and told him that, fearing a "pool" formed was in a dangerous predicament, desired him, after instructing secrecy, to sell him out at once. It was done. But Morse, unsuspecting, soon found himself overloaded, and failing utterly, did bankrupt. "When I read Mr. Tilden's letter of acceptance this summer and pondered on his lofty condemnation of fraud, trickery and contaminating practices of all sorts, I could hardly believe that the man who penned these glowing words and the man who had twelve years ago sneaked into my office to sell out his friend were one and the same person."

After such an exposure as this, is it to be wondered that Horatio Seymour determinedly refused to allow his name to be linked with such a villain? Language fails to express the scorn that must be felt by all honest men, whatever their party affiliations, for such an apostate to his race. Out upon him!

"Not dead but sleeping," would have been an honorable motto for the Baltimore Plug Uglies since they rioted loyal troops in '61. A Republican Club was holding its regular weekly session at the Cross Street Institute, property owned and rented by the city of Baltimore for this purpose, when a crowd of roughs came in hurrahing for Tilden and ended with a volley of the most abusive language that could disgrace the mouth of man. A speaker was addressing the club in well-chosen, temperate language, upon the issues of the campaign, when a rough shouted, "You are a damned liar and now break it."

police were hindered in the performance of their duty by the roughs, while one, shouting "three cheers for Tilden," fired his pistol. Instantly the roughs went to work vigorously; pistols were drawn, a dozen or more shots were fired, when the hall was rapidly cleared. One Republican was shot in the left side, inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound, and there were others reported wounded.

The "Mississippi system" is being introduced with success and seems to work as well on the Atlantic coast, as in the Southwest. Mr. Tilden's assurances of "peace and order, and meeting with prompt verification, and his followers are certainly on the lead toward the good time coming of bludgeons and pistols.

In Mr. Tilden's strictly confidential circular of Oct. 27, 1868, he urges that some reliable person telegraph W. M. Tweed, at the closing of the polls, not waiting for the count, such person's estimate of the vote; and give orders to watch carefully the count. But Mr. Tilden's conferees of the Yazoo Democrat announces in his latitude, "Shoot him on the spot, if you find any man counting the votes and making up a return in the interests of Radicalism," as a supplement to Mr. Tilden's above order. A new order was issued directing the canvassers to read each and every name on each and every order. Oakley Hall explained it as follows:

"For the purpose to change Republican tickets for Democratic, or 'stuff the ballot boxes,' add Democratic tickets and have them counted accordingly."

The result in one district of the Sixth Ward was that while only 35 votes for Congressman were cast, 319 were polled for Governor, 304 of which were Democratic. Under such tutelage is it surprising that the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion exclaims: "Put your votes in the boxes and see that they are counted and returned." * * Hang the registrar that proposes to throw out a Democratic vote or a Democratic box." He might have added, "The bolder your fraud, the more imperative your demand should be."

LETTER FROM THE "ORANGE GROVES."

MARKLEEVILLE, Sept. 25, 1876.

EDITORS CHRONICLE: Markleeville, as your readers are well aware, is the county seat of Alpine county. It may seem trite to mention this, as the fame of Markleeville in this respect has reached the ears of all the world. In addition to everything that enters into the make up of a live town, it can boast of two splendidly kept hotels, where no hungry traveler has ever regretted stopping to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. The Barnes House is presided over by that prince of good fellows and chief of caterers, W. A. Johnson. Mine host of the Finley House is James E. Stewart, a newly-made Benedict, whose first venture after the matrimonial alliance was the opening in good style of the old and well-known Finley House.

The county seat was happily chosen for beauty and natural scenery its equal cannot be found in the State. On all sides the city is walled in by lofty ranges of snow-capped mountains. These vast formations of nature strike the beholder with awe and admiration. The people living thus in the midst of Nature's grandest works must indeed lead a charmed life. One which is sublime in every thought, word and action. We await with impatience the sport of the iron horse. This is the genie that will cause Markleeville to bud and blossom as the rose, to expand from a small town into a magnificent city, great in wealth and population. Too long, O Markleeville, have you been

"As idle as a painted ship Upon a painted ocean."

Her inhabitants were lost to the spirit of enterprise and public improvement, but the genie will soon arrive, wave forth her wand and bid Markleeville shake of the lethargy and the shackles of indolence and rise to a true conception of her greatness and assume the position to which she is entitled among the cities of the Golden State. Her future is indeed bright and glorious, surrounded as she is by inexhaustible stores of mineral wealth and forests that have not yet been rudely awakened to the sound of the woodman's ax. Fate seems to have singled her out to become the future great city of our undeveloped mining region. Markleeville was first laid out with mathematical precision. The streets running north and south were named after the old pioneers of the Pacific Coast. None but the old forty-miners could share in this doubtful honor. Owing to land slides, avalanches and other convulsions of nature, the topographical appearance of the city somewhat resembles that of Boston.

The streets are indeed very crooked, so much so that the milkmen in order to extract the lactical beverage from the unruly bovines must turn the unlucky animal on their backs and get astride the bricket a la Mexican vacuqueria. I have noticed with pain that visitors here are often affected by the prevalent "crookedness," and after a few hours stay look crooked, walk crooked and occasionally become so crooked that they seek a quiet spot in some secluded, crooked by way and dream themselves straight. The legal fraternity is well eloquent attorneys of great professional skill, but most of the pleading is done at Hammond's bar. Two old war horses of the Silver State, Peter Schram and Doctor Billings, who are here on a visit, have been disputing themselves for the past few days, taking in the sights and crookedness of Markleeville. Tom Andrain shook the dust of Markleeville from his boots last Sunday and departed for the growing young town of Fredericksburg. Tom is carried away by the mining excitement. Notwithstanding all the attractions of our city, a certain person thinks it the loneliest place on earth; but we know several who would be very lonesome if he said person were absent. The Glee Club still flourishes like a green bay tree. Bashful young men with tender voices need not fear to apply for membership. Many cities have arisen and faded from the sight and remembrance of man, but thou, O Markleeville, will never become "lost to sight and memory dear."

JUBAL.

Some twenty years ago the Boston Post, in alluding to Charles Francis Adams, who was then before the people for an office, said "the mantle of his father's greatness fell on him and smothered him. If anything would take him out of that greatness it is a Democratic nomination."

An article by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe in the Spiritual Scientist indicates her conversion to Spiritualism.

The United States war ship left Vigo on Wednesday for the United States with Tweed as a passenger.

The itch, which is a Protean disease, and undoubtedly of animalcular origin, can only be effectually and permanently cured by sulphur. GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP presents the remedy in its most agreeable and effective shape. Sold everywhere.

TASTELESS MEDICINES.

A prominent New York physician lately complained to DUNDAS DICK & CO. about their SANDALWOOD OIL CAPSULES, stating that sometimes they cured miraculously, but that a patient of his had taken them without effect. On being informed that several institutions were sold, he inquired and found his patient had not been taking DUNDAS DICK & CO.'S. What happened to this physician may have happened to others, and DUNDAS DICK & CO. take this method of proving medicines, drugs and chemicals, and providing OIL OF SANDALWOOD from coming into disrepute. PHYSICIANS who once prescribe the Capsules will continue to do so, for they contain the pure OIL in the best and cheapest form. DUNDAS DICK & CO. use more OIL OF SANDALWOOD than all the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Perfumers in the United States combined, and this is the sole reason why the pure OIL is sold cheaper in their Capsules than in any other form. OIL OF SANDALWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules only being required to insure a cure and certain cure in six or eight days. From no other medicine can this result be had. DUNDAS DICK & CO.'S SOFT CAPSULES solve the problem, long considered by eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disagreeable experience of swallowing pills, which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effects of many valuable remedies. Soft Capsules are put up in tin-foli and neat boxes, thirty in each, and are the only Capsules prescribed by physicians. TASTELESS MEDICINES.—Castor Oil and many other nauseous medicines can be taken easily and safely in DUNDAS DICK & CO.'S SOFT CAPSULES. NO TASTE. NO SWELL. These were the only Capsules admitted to the last Paris Exposition. Send for Circulars to 25 Worcester street, N. Y.

SEWING MACHINES.

14,878 FLORENCE SEWING MACHINES were sold on the Pacific Coast from the Agency at San Francisco, previous to August 1, 1876.

If there is a Florence Machine within one thousand miles of San Francisco not working well and giving entire satisfaction, I will, if informed of it, fix it without expense to the owner, and will pay the freight both ways.

2,258 FLORENCE MACHINES were sold on the Pacific Coast in 1875—the largest number of Family Sewing Machines ever sold here in a single year, of any kind.

MEDICAL.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretions, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.
DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are reading on dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage; remember you are approaching the last. If you are lingering in the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success.— Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment, $25.00. Send money by Post Office order or Express with full description of case. C. P. or Address,

SHERMAN & HYDE'S COLUMN.

Never before in the history of piano forte manufacture has an instrument risen so rapidly in popular favor.

Its intrinsic merit and decided superiority over all others has caused every musician and artist of note to adopt and recommend it.

Nilsson says, "I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments."

Miss Kellogg says, "Your Pianos are my choice for the concert room and my own house."

Locca says, "Your uprights are extraordinary instruments, and deserve their great popularity."

Patti says, "I have used the Pianos of every celebrated maker, but give yours the preference over all."

Strauss says, "Your Pianos astonish me. I have never seen any Pianos which equal yours."

Wehl says, "Madame Parepa called your Pianos the finest in the United States. I fully endorse that opinion. They have no rival."
